I give you my peace.

*Opening prayer****

Father said: My dear team, Hello and welcome. Many of you have been struggling once again with many aspects of your life. Be it spiritual, physical or mental.

Let me address the physical first. Are you eating correctly, exercising and getting enough sleep? That is all I will say on this subject. And no, liquor does not ease the pain.

Mental, if your physical body is not well, yes you will have a mental strain. Some of you sought out the help of doctors and are now on antidepressants. Are you meditating regularly as well? This will be a great benefit to you.

And now for the spiritual part. Some may ask how is it that Father is allowing all of these changes within the church. Do they not chip away at the foundation of our faith? Are not the brothers trying to bend the doctrine to fit this world?

Again, this IS all part of my plan. Those who are strong in their faith and trust Me will not be affected when all of these changes come crashing down. AND they will be the ones who feeling in their heart that something is not right. And something is not right. The brothers are trying to attract new members by not being so inclusive by taking a broader stance on everything. This is not My will. I am allowing it for now.

All of these ideas will fade away when they leave and take them with them. Then the foundation that was laid nearly 200 years, 2000 years ago will stand! I am asking all of you to be silent for now. In time you will profess all of this. You are still to support the brothers and not tear them down.

The Chief Guardians do not tear down, they build up, they support and they continue to protect, even when the need is to protect them from themselves.

I feel the need to express once again a promise I made to all of you years ago. I will not allow any “physical” harm to befall you or your families, and that is YOUR impression of harm. You need to trust me and stop giving into fears. Be strong, you are powerful. Never forget that. The love you have for your family will never surpass the love I have for all of you! I am the Lord your God, the God of Love! I just thought some of you needed a gentle reminder.

Now focus on your HEALTH; physical and mental and your spirituality and faith. AND your Father, Brothers and HS love you more than you will ever understand.

Does anyone have any questions for Father? Any comments or something they would like to add?
