Absent:

I greet all of you in love and I give you my peace.

Father said - My very dear team Triland once again we meet and I give you My peace. Peace is a rarity that flees the heart and is something that a soul thirsts for. Because I have given My peace to My Sons' I now impart it to all of you. In the past, My Son has told you that you may give My peace to all, but few of you have. Please from this day forward offer My peace to all in your path, they will need it.

The time hastens towards the finalization of my plan and its execution. All is now in place for the visit of the Chief Apostle in a week. Please continue to pray for this day. Many souls in the living and Eternity will be fed and enlightened. It will truly be a day that tests the faith and strengthens the soul.

Life is choices, all of you have chosen to walk the path of a Chief Guardian, once again I will remind all of you of the tasks I have given My Son and have asked all of you to support and carry out as well.

- 1) Protect the Bride of Christ
- 2) Defend the Apostle's Doctrine
- 3) Help bring the Bride home

And a forth task I will now add.

- 4) Teach the world about who We all really are and bring them closer to Us.

Are all of these tasks to great and unaccomplishable? They are not! Why? Because for the past few years I have prepared all of you to carry these out. I am not only speaking of the training you received or will receive being on this team, but within all of your lives. From the day, you were born I have molded you, formed your hearts created a loving Chief Guardian's heart filled with understanding, compassion, faith, insight and wisdom. I have wrapped all of those gifts within you and then exploded other gifts that have come out of all of you.

Some of you are always cognizant of who you are and what your tasks are, but some of you continue to wane. You are still showing Me that your life is more important and you are being lazy! Perhaps you think My Son and I will continue to accept this behavior?

Perhaps you should read the book called the "Bible" and see what I did with those who did not follow My instructions; King Saul, Jonah, John the Baptist to name a few. I am not threatening you to kill you, I love all of you. I am telling you that I have made time within My plan, if needed to replace anyone who is not willing to hold themselves to the vow they made to Me. Do you all understand?

Time is shorter than you think. I have been telling you this since the beginning of our meetings together. I have been correcting you pretty much all of this year, for the past six months. I have seen some improvement but not enough. Some of you still think that My Son's announcement won't happen. Do you place more faith into what man thinks or what I think?

Never has man interfered with My plan! Need I remind you that I am omniscient? I know everything. Perhaps you should be focusing on all the things you are not doing instead of enhancing your doubts? Hmmm? Please let Me handle this. Can you please just have a little faith that I will announce My Son despite man's opinions and fear of Him? Great! Thank you.

Now I will give you a little instruction. Me-di-tate! Yes meditate. Come see Me. Why have some of you stopped visiting Me? I promise I will shower? HAHA! I miss you. We need to talk. How will you share with the world Who we are if YOU do not spend time with US. Please make time to come. I will make sure the chamber is clean, again a little humor.

Team do you think I enjoy the "TONE" of these meetings for the past few months? Do you think I find joy in correcting you? I do not. I think we should have all been past this but we are not which is why I must talk about it with you. You who are parents or even those of you who have managed other people know what I speak of. There is nothing good about having to tell someone they are not doing their job well or being disobedient. Okay, enough of this!

Let us speak of all of the good. Instead of focusing on negative things in your life, focus on the wonderful things you have done in My Name.

Remember the time we have spent together, the lives you have touched, protected and saved from harm. Those you have healed? There is such good in all of you! Focus on that. WAIT! Do not feed your egos and “butter your own muffins”. I know all of you will not.

Take the time now and heed all I have shared with you. Your “bottoms” have not been spanked, rather as a loving Father I have held your chin with My hand and held your face close to mine so that you could see into My eyes, to see the love I have for you as I spoke to you and now I will kiss all of you on the fore-head, pat you on the bottom and send you on your way. Your Father loves you!

Does anyone have any questions, comments or something they would like to share?

- VET your team again. Always be on your guard. We can't be lazy anymore. If you can't remember all their names there is a problem. Why is this happening, to teach you how to read a situation and find a lie or deception. Vet means to also just spend time with them.
- Daysus- Commander of the Light Brigade
- Barimous - Commander of the Warrior Brigade
- What does it mean to be Jesus? Jesus was Jesus Christ not for Himself, He was for all of mankind and so are we!
- The closer we get to Jesus' return the further away our hearts should feel attached to this world.
- StarLight went into the Realm of Restoration
- Difference between prayer and Meditation
- OPEN FORUM-Nuke's driving experience.

Does anyone have any questions, comments or something they would like to share?
