Absent:

I give you my peace.

Father said; Dear Team Triland,

Many days have been filled with grief and suffering for all of you. I wish this not for any of you but it was necessary for your growth. A piece of carbon only becomes a diamond with the correct amount of pressure and time applied to it. Diamonds are incredibly strong. You were all diamonds in the rough and now I am building the facets in all of you that will illuminate, fascinate and draw attention to the beauty that is within all of you.

Stay the course. I say this to my Son all the time. But what does that statement mean? It means that you should never get discouraged and allow Satan to cause your faith to wane. Never take your eyes off the goal, see beyond the moment you are suffering in and look for the bigger picture that is your future. I will share something with you now because I know my Son will not.

For the past year I have been chipping away everything from my boy that is not Triland. I have been squeezing him and polishing him so hard that he almost fell out of My hand and I lost him. I have done things to him and have allowed tests to come upon him that I know no other human would have survived. And even when my boy tried to tell me he was finished and that I should find someone else to torcher, those are his words. He still remained. My son and I are in the "rebuilding" stages of our relationship and I do not blame him for the way he feels. All of this was necessary for the future of mankind.

Now why am I sharing these personal and intimate moments with you? I have allowed many things to happen to all of you and your families as well. They too are needed so that you will understand what you will need to do to help mankind. I will tell you that you and your loved ones have not and will not suffer as much as my Son has. All of your hearts are linked together. When one of you pulls away all feel it. You have felt my Son pulling away from you for a while now. And because of this your prayers for him increased. I want to take this time to thank all of you. My Boy really has no idea how much all of you love him and respect him. And how much you all wrestled with Me in prayer about him. Once again My thanks to all of you for your prayers, support and love for my Son.

Now all of you are in your own personal healing stages as well. I have made this time possible for all of you. In the past few weeks and months all of you have had more time to spend with your families. Family is everything to Me! Cherish and hold onto the moments you can share with them. Yes even when they irritate you. In the future you will not have as much time with them.

We are in the final stages of my plan for my Son's announcement and for the world to find out about God's Guardians. Kind of brings a chill to the spine does it not?! This is who all of you are. Before you were born I chose you for this task. It is not an easy task, but I will also share with you that no other group of servants in history has had the training you have had and has experienced the wonders that you have and will share in. Again all of this is because of the love I have for mankind. Did you ever think for a moment that you would personally be listening to a letter that I dictate to My Second Son? Or that you would be a part of a small team that causes an enormous change in the hearts of this world. Or that you would be working in tandem with "The Jesus Christ"?! Oh and you would be allowed to come to Me any time you wished so we could talk and hold one another?

I tell you this now because there are no other souls that are as blessed as you are with all of this. Do not take any of this for granted. You are my Elite team. No one in this world knows what you know about my plan. About how Satan works and no one outside of you can affect him the way you do! You are an extension of my Son's, yes both of them. You all have within you character traits of my Boys. You have love, compassion, understanding, empathy and peace. Do you know where those traits those come from? Yes Jesus. You may now continue onto the bonus round! You also have conviction, you are steadfast, fearless, strong, determined, and fierce and you will never give up! These are a few of Triland's traits. Just as both of my Boy's share in my traits all of you share in theirs.

I felt I should share this with you because all of your hearts are down. You all feel a sadness that you have not felt before. You all know that the Service for the Departed is three weeks away. Each service is larger than the next. My Son continues to liberate realm after realm each day; 4 million realms a day as of now. The magnitude of this task is unfathomable for mankind to grasp. But I know personally each heart within each soul and all need to find grace. The time is shorter than the world knows, but YOU know.

Again stay the course. Be strong! Stay active! Open your hearts to your family and those around you. Always serve out of love. The completion of the Bride is a work in process not an event. I stole that from Brilliance I hope she does not mind.

My dear ones I do love you more that you will ever understand. And I do know all of your struggles with all of this. Many of you ask "Why did He pick me?" I will tell you now. When I looked through all of the ages, through all of the souls I would create. I handpicked a few that I in time would call My "Guardians". I placed in them everything they would need to complete this task. I knew they would love Me more than themselves. They would be willing to sacrifice everything to help serve and they would try to see beyond mankind's shortcomings and help save them. They would be selfless and share in a love with Me that I do not share with all. And here is the most important trait. They would do everything within their power to complete this task no matter how hard things became and they would not FAIL ME!

Do you see now why I have chosen all of you? Who in their right mind would say yes to everything you have seen and done?! That is just plain crazy! But you are not crazy you are faithful.

Even when you questioned some of the things right in front of you, you still stood strong and fought! All of you fight for the world not for yourselves. Are you getting a deeper understanding now? Yes I believe you are. Your hearts are now open even more. Your love for me is now even stronger and your determination to see all of this through is now unshakable. Yes this was all part of my fiendish plan as my Boy would say.

Yes this is the most personal letter I have ever given you, but my Boy told me he really did not have much to speak on today so I thought I would step up and help fill some of the time. Yes you are all welcome.

Always know my beloved, how protected and loved you are by Me and my Boys. Now get to work! Father smiled and patted all of us on our heads.
